

Isabel Pefianco MARTIN is Associate Professor at the Department of English, School of Humanities, Ateneo de Manila University, Philippines. She was President of the Linguistic Society of the Philippines (LSP) from 2006 to 2008, Treasurer of the Philippine Social Science Council (PSSC) from 2008 to 2010, Chair of the Ateneo de Manila English Department from 1998 to 2004, and Research Coordinator of the Ateneo School of Humanities from 2008 to 2010. In 2006, Dr. Martin was appointed Part-time Commissioner of the Komisyon sa Wikang Filipino (Commission for the Filipino Language) to represent the Philippine languages Kinaray-a and Hiligaynon until 2010. Her research interests include descriptions of English, world Englishes, Philippine English, and the politics and practice of language and literature education in the Philippines. She is presently involved in the Asian Corpus of English (ACE) Research Project as leader of the Philippine team.

Her recent publications include the following: "Periphery ELT: The politics and practice of teaching English in the Philippines," in The Routledge Handbook of World Englishes, edited by Andy Kirkpatrick, UK: Routledge, 2010; "Colonial Education and the Shaping of Philippine Literature in English," in Philippine English: Linguistic and Literary Perspectives, edited by Kingsley Bolton and Ma. Lourdes Bautista, HK: Hong Kong University Press, 2008; "The Literature Filipino Students Do Not Read." In English in Southeast Asia: literacies, literatures and varieties, edited by David Prescott, Andy Kirkpatrick, Azirah Hashim, and Isabel Pefianco Martin, Cambridge Scholars Press, 2007, pp 290-318; "Language in Philippine Classrooms: Enabling or Enfeebling?" Journal of Asian Englishes, Tokyo, 2006.

Email: mmartin@ateneo.edu